The Great Valley Nature Center was founded in 1974 as a non-profit organization dedicated to providing environmental education and recreation experiences for school children, organized groups and the general public.

Located on 10 1/2 acres, the Nature Center provides educational experiences for over 40,000 people each year.

Proceeds from the race will help provide environmental education programs for special needs and underprivileged children, including camp scholarships, and support the Birds of Prey Center, a home for permanently injured raptors that have come in from various rehabilitation facilities.
