Epidermolysis Bullosa, or EB, is a very rare genetic connective tissue disorder that affects 1 child out of every 20,000 births (that means about 200 children a year are born with EB). EB is a group of disorders that share a prominent manifestation of extremely fragile skin that blisters and tears from friction or trauma. Internal organs and bodily systems can also be seriously affected by EB.

As of today, there is NO cure or treatment. Daily wound care, pain management and protective bandaging are the only options. Kisses for EB is a non-profit to spread Awareness of this horrible disease and bring assistance to those who endure it.
